

OH&S Announces Winners of 2021 Industrial Hygiene Awards

DALLAS, March 29, 2021 – Occupational Health & Safety has announced winners in 18 categories for the inaugural year of its OH&S Industrial Hygiene Awards. Occupational Health & Safety has a history of introducing cutting-edge programs to the health & safety industry and is known for its prestigious OH&S New Product of the Year Awards, launched in 2008. Due to an ever-increasing need for top-quality industrial hygiene information and a lack of in-person opportunities, OH&S premiered its Industrial Hygiene Virtual Summit last year. After the success of that, the second annual OH&S Industrial Hygiene Virtual Summit is planned for May 20, 2021. To kick off 2021, OH&S launched the Industrial Hygiene Awards, providing an additional opportunity to spread the news about industrial hygiene.

The Industrial Hygiene Awards honor outstanding product development achievements of health and safety manufacturers whose products or services are considered particularly noteworthy in their ability to improve industrial hygiene. Winners will receive physical awards as well as brand recognition in the May issue of Occupational Health & Safety magazine, during the OH&S Industrial Hygiene Virtual Summit and in the OH&S Industrial Hygiene Quarterly eNewsletter. They are also featured on Occupational Health & Safety's industry-leading website, ohsonline.com.

Competition was great in the first year of this contest, which attracted 50 entries. An independent panel of highly qualified judges carefully reviewed and scored each entry. The judges' combined scores dictated the winners of each category.

"OH&S is delighted by the turnout for our first Industrial Hygiene awards program," OH&S Editor Sydney Shepard said. "The safety industry continues to see more innovate and robust products and services added to the market each year. This contest is just one of the many ways we have highlighted outstanding industrial hygiene products. It is our hope in these continuously trying times that the Industrial Hygiene Awards will bring more information, awareness and safety to employers and employees."
